

Art in Bloom

By Kate Guerriero, TRIBUNE-REVIEW
Monday, April 20, 2009
Multimedia

Slideshow: Fanfare
April 20, 2009

About the writer

Kate Guerriero is the Pittsburgh Tribune-Review's Fanfare columnist and can be reached at 412-380-8515 or via e-mail.

Top of the Class

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Do not go where the path may lead: go instead where there is no path and leave a trail." A gorgeous Thursday afternoon and no better way to spend it than in the company of some of our city's best and brightest for the 11th annual Fund for the Advancement of Minorities Through Education (FAME) luncheon at the Duquesne Club.

Recognized for their outstanding academic achievement at The Ellis School, Shady Side Academy, Winchester Thurston, St. Edmund's Academy and Sewickley Academy, there's no doubt that the future is wide open for these talented young trailblazers, and we look forward to seeing the impact that they will continue to make on our world.

Standing tall were scholars Janessa Benn, Kaila Elliott, Michelle Lemani, Dane Johnson, Raediah Lyles, Ashley Jones, Eric Dingess, Michael Fulmore II, Shayne Harris and Maya Dean, along with director Constance Horton, Jane Nicholson, Margaret Gilfillan and Steven Reinsel.